Learn Inspire Serve

LIS Academy wishes all the fellow librarians A very happy Librarians' Day

Dear Friends,

This is the Day our Father of Library Movement in India Dr.S.R.Ranganathan was born. He was the one who gave us a professional status and a career ever satisfying. During his time, the profession of Library Science in India was so much advanced that, the Western Countries used to look at the East for all advancements in the LIS Profession.

Hence, a true homage to Dr SRR-Father of Library science shall be;

1. Be proud of being a librarian and restore pride of Librarianship.
2. Build your self-confidence on your professional skills and qualities to lead any positions.
3. Stop creating problems and criticizing your own profession or professional colleagues.
4. Please leave aside your personal liking and disliking, egos, interests.
5. Please remember your identity is your profession, you are nothing without the profession. Please strengthen Libraries and Librarianship.
6. Respect your seniors and learn from them the best of the best skills that, you have not learn from the class rooms
7. Do not hate or dislike your juniors, help them to learn and build them as future leaders of our Profession
8. Library users are our God. Provide them the best services and convert them as your admirers. In turn they will help you to grow.
9. Let's accept respect the good work done by each of our professionals.
10. Let's re-build the leadership in our Profession

We all the professionals should reunion again and lead for a library movement to reposition ourselves in the challenging Technological Environment. We should not be too late in understanding and doing it.

Thanking you,

Bangalore
